

I'D LIKE TO GET A 4-YEAR DEGREE BUT DO NOT HAVE A HIGH SCHOOL DIPLOMA

Right now in the US, not enough people have the required skills or knowledge to fill available jobs. 4 million available jobs, in fact. The GED® test can help solve this economic need by opening the doors for millions of adult learners to college courses, apprenticeships and job training—the pathway adults need to gain skills and knowledge, fill these jobs, and care for their families.

General Education Test (GED)

A high school diploma remains the primary ticket to many entry-level jobs, and is also a prerequisite for promotions, occupational training, and postsecondary education. In an ideal society, everyone would graduate from high school. Although that is not a reality today, GED Testing Service offers the only nationally recognized opportunity to earn a high school-equivalency credential.

The computer-based 2014 GED® Test is available at Official GED® Test Centers and authorized Pearson VUE National Test Centers worldwide.

Reimbursement and Eligibility

Retest Policies

Retesting is necessary when examinees fails to meet required state standards for granting a high school equivalency credential or when the scores are not acceptable for admission to a chosen college or university.

DANTES will not fund retests for Service members with passing scores on file that meet minimum state requirements unless a legitimate Service requirement exists. Contact the DANTES TCO for assistance or email exams@navy.mil.
